CUSTOM MANUFACTURE

Dominator[®] timber doors are custom manufactured to a customer's opening dimensions using specific design methods. All operating hardware is manufactured to world class standards.

CHOICE OF TIMBER

In choosing a timber door it should be appreciated that only timbers suitable for outside exposure are used in the manufacture of Dominator[®] timber garage doors. Even with suitable material, temperature and moisture will cause some natural movement, more or less, depending on the timber used, location and how well the door is maintained.

CHOOSING THE FINISH

Being a natural product, timber requires suitable protection and maintenance of that protection. Various waxes, oils, clear and paint finishes are available. Your professional designer or Dominator[®] distributor can advise a suitable protective finish. Dryden's WoodOil™ clear base can be applied to all Dominator[®] timber doors at your request for water-repellent, non-filming timber protection. See www.woodoil.co.nz for more information.

PERFECT BALANCE AND OPERATION

Whichever style you choose, Dominator's[®] carefully researched spring formulae and precision manufacture combine to provide perfect balance for easy, smooth operation.

AUTOMATIC OPERATION

As timber doors are generally heavier than equivalent metal doors a Dominator[®] Automatic opener is recommended. Providing the ultimate in convenience, with push button ease, an automatic opener also provides benefits in terms of safety and security. Ask your Dominator[®] dealer for more information.

MAXIMUM USE OF SPACE

If your drive area is limited, the vertical operation of a sectional door allows parking right up to the front of it.

INSTALLATION

Dominator[®] timber sectional doors are supplied, installed and serviced by any of our authorised Dominator[®] distributors.
